Our cat, Lucky, snuck out of the house last night (5/21/17) and has not yet returned. He is exclusively an indoor cat that we inherited from my mother when she passed away in 2013. During the years he was with her he got out once and did not return for six months. We are concerned that he might not make it home at all this time. He is quite friendly and likes to eat, especially

“people food,” primarily meats. Considering he has now missed dinner and breakfast, he’s probably hungry and might be easy to lure with food should you see/find him. Please contact me if you find him. We live on Catalpa Road, right off of Chesnut in the Town of Newburgh. Many thanks!
