Around April 9th 2017, we came across a black and white cat in a shed on our property. At first he was quite skittish but never hissed. We started to feed him in the shed because he was very underweight. Thats when we noticed his bluish green flea collar that was hanging lose on his neck that probably fit much better when he was his full weight. Over the course of a couple days he began to trust us, we where sure he was once someomes cat. We named his Bo and began petting him and he was very loving and vocal. I was able to pick him up and we surrendered him to Mid Hudson Animal Aid where he is now. I know for sure this was someones cat and we hope we can find you!
