In trying to find our own lost cat (Ivy), we think we may have caught someone's missing cat in our havahart trap. He (I think he is male...I didn't want to probe too much) is in pretty rough shape with some older-looking healed wounds on his head (so he might have been out for a while.) This cat is DECLAWED, very affectionate now that he feels safe, and quite noisy. I hope someone recognizes him!
