Trudy is a very adventurous. She enjoys spending most of the day outside. She is skittish of most people. We last saw her Thursday morning but were out of town for a night. Normally not a big deal. We think maybe she got scared of the big storm on Friday night. She was last seen with a pink collar on. It might be hard to read my number. She definitely explores the greater

Dutch Hollow area. If you see her or know anything please email me!
