Doug has a Black Coat and White Chest, is a 60 lb. rescue from the Bronx that was found by a NYPD Officer chained to a parking meter. Doug must have flunked the mean test! He has a spot of dead skin on his side with white hairs from being prodded. He has overcome some difficulties and has become a good companion. He acts like a tough guy but loves to play, be loved and eat. He reacts well to women at first before men. He loves just to come inside and hang out. We have a lot of deer in the area and he will chase them when they are around the house but always came back. It is very strange that he did not this time. He has his shots, updated with a chip from the Bronx Shelter. He has a collar with his name and our number on it. Please help us find Doug.
