Year old (approx) marble tabby, white chest, white front paws, white hind legs. He showed up on my porch thin and very hungry. I had him neutered, rabies shot etc. He's here and I'm feeding him but can't keep him due to the many cats I already have. He's a sweet thing, very affectionate, loves playing with toys and uses a litter box. Though he's been in the outside world for a while, and has developed some semi-feral characteristics, it's clear he was someone's house cat. Perhaps, before his owner had a chance to neuter him, he ran off looking for a girlfriend and got too lost to find his way back home. ??
