Lost Cat. Schermerhorn. We last saw her either Thursday Night (5/24) or Friday (5/25) morning. We thought she was in our home when we left for two nights but we just returned at 5pm today (5/27) and she is not home. She has gotten out overnight before but never for this long. She is a small cat, grey-kind of like a Russian Blue. She has a small white patch under her chin and on her belly. She’s generally shy and does not get along with other animals. No collar or identifying tags.
