Found this nice little fella about 2 weeks ago for the first time, then I didn't see him again until just yesterday. He is very friendly, and was obviously a house cat. Not sure if he got loose or was dumped, but I think he missed his home. For the time being, he has food and shelter with me, as I know what happens to pets when they end up in animal shelters. If you or anyone you know recognizes him, please feel free to reach out.
