Hi everyone,

My family and I are desperately looking for our sweet little kitten who went missing today!

She is about 9 months old, small and grey tortie with a distinct orange marking down the middle of her face. She has large dark eyes and a long fluffy tail.

She is a sweet and quiet girl, but is extremely skittish and good at hiding. We think she got out sometime during the day during the chaos of our house from Christmas and we didn't see her.

Last seen on Crittenden Street in Wallkill, but not sure how far away she could've gotten already.
She is likely very scared and will try to run/hide if approached, but we are desperate to find her and bring her in from the cold!
