My little buddy snuck out this past Saturday morning (Saturday, March 18) and has yet to come home.

He's a medium/short hair car, smaller sized, white with large black spots on his back and top of his head.

Jack is extremely skittish around unfamiliar people and will likely run if approached. Please try to take a pic and submit it, to confirm it's him.
Especially since black and white cats are so common.

Thank you!
