I know it's Christmas so this is why I am asking, Nyack is the best cat I have ever had as well as my husband so I'm begging, it's been weeks and we have seen no sign of him. He's they type of cat someone fed and he was cold so he came in and now you and little Timmy love him. I get it. So do mine. And now on Christmas I have to break the news about poor little Nyack. So if any of you have him I thank you for taking care of him, but now you know he belongs to a warm family whom loves and will keep spending money to find him. Please as the parents just like me, bring my cat home. Do the right thing. And if he is not with a family I need help I beg of you to bring him home. Nyack is tame, wouldn't hurt a fly, he was born in my husbands and my closet, to our cat Izzy. Nyack has formed relationships with the other cats one of whom is his mom and they're very depressed as well as my father " I love that little guy" my daughter and husband. This would be making our Christmas. I've been made fun of, and told to get a new cat but of you are animal lovers like us you know we can't. Thank you,
