Found him at aprox 7:30pm on January 2nd just sitting in my parking space at the fox hill condominiums in Poughkeepsie, NY. Seems to be a young to middle aged dog. Male. He does have a wound on his front left paw. All black with a bit of white on the chest... very friendly. Possibly a German shepherd mix... we are holding him and keeping him safe, providing food, water, etc. however we do already have a large German Shepherd/husky mix dog and upon greeting, they did not get along unfortunately. Please contact with any info. There was no collar, just a very tiny leash wrapped around his neck with dutchess county animal hospital written on it.
