Cat found in city of Newburgh, no luck with rescues.

Took her to Newburgh Vet, they estimate her to be 10-11 months old, not microchipped, not spayed. She is friendly. She was found fairly thin with a superficial wound in her side. They closed up the wound (didn't look like a bite), gave her rabies vaccine and nexguard. They said there is a very slight chance she may be pregnant and if so it’d be very early on.

She’s thought to be a stray but we are not sure.
